CLOTHING HATS

ABRAHAM LINCOLN ONCE SAID,

The REASON there were so many of the common people was because the Lord loved them the best, and made more of them for that REASON.

Possibly a REASON akin to the above accounts for there being more medium price men's wear than all others combined. We specialize in all lines of men's medium priced wear, and for that REASON we show the best Spring and summer Suits in all America at from $15 to $20. The best Hats in all America at from $2 to $3. The best Shoes and Oxfords at from $3 to $4. The best Shirts $1 to $1.50. The best Underwear $1 to $2, and for these and kindred REASONS our store is the trading center of the Tri Territory.

PLANT BEDS.

Destroyed in Daviess County—Unknown Men Under Cover of Darkness Visit Farmers

Owensboro, Ky., May 14.—Under the cover of darkness, lawless men, riding in two buggies, visited two farmers on the Hartford road some time during Tuesday night and completely destroyed the tobacco plant beds. The canvass was torn from the beds and the plants were cut and scraped to pieces, not one being left.

The first visit was to the farm of Massie Bros. on the Hartford road, a few miles from Owensboro. The farm is in charge of J. T. Jones. Mr. Jones stated that the majority of the plants were the property of tenants, who had made no provision for any crop with the exception of tobacco. Six or seven beds were destroyed on the Massie farm. Mr. Jones stated that he had always pooled his tobacco with the Green River Tobacco Growers' Association.

After the beds at the Massie farm had been destroyed the men went to Roy Yewell's farm, which is in a short distance from the Hartford road, and ruined seventeen beds for him. Mr. Yewell stated on Tuesday night that he was not a member of any of the pooling association.

This is the first act of lawlessness that has ever occurred in Daviess county in connection with tobacco raising. Last year in the Stemming district, composed of Hopkins, Henderson, Webster, Union and Crittenden counties, hundreds of plant beds were scraped.

Forest Fire Season Gets Early Start

The first reports of forest fires have begun to come in to Washington from the national forests and they indicate to the federal officers an early start of the fire season, with unfavorable weather conditions from the very beginning. In the northwest there was less snow on the mountains at the end of the winter than for many years past. Railroad rights-of-way which were last year deep in snow are reported clear now and dry enough to burn readily.

From the Canadian border to Mexico the reports are similar, and there have already been extensive fires in California and Arizona.

The chief forester reports, however, that the fire-fighting forces of the service are organized better than ever before, particularly in respect to the fire detection system of lookout stations. By means of these stations fires are reported quickly and accurately, so that the control forces may be on the ground at the earliest possible moment.

In those states where the gravest danger threatens, special efforts are being made by the government foresters and by co-operative fire protection associations organized among timberland owners, to secure safe with fire on the part of campers, prospectors, loggers and by railroads. The northwestern forestry and conservation association, with headquarters at Portland, Ore., is one of the leaders in this campaign.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for such emergencies. Two sizes 25 and 50c at all stores.

FOREST NOTES

Angora goats have been used with profit to keep fire lines clear of inflammable vegetation on national forests in California.

Last year the fire loss on the Canadian timber reserves was the smallest ever known, only one fiftieth of one per cent of the area being burned over.

Zentaro Kawase, professor of forestry at the imperial university of Tokyo, Japan, has been making a tour of the national forests of this country to learn the government's methods of selling timber and of reforestation.

More than 858,000 young trees are being set out this spring on national forests in Utah and southern Idaho, and the season is reported as particularly favorable to their successful growth.

Armstrong lake, within the Beartooth national forest, Montana, is said to rival the famed Lake Louise of the Canadian Rockies. It lies at an elevation of 7,000 feet surrounded by towering mountains. A good road which can be traveled in half a day by automobile connects it with the railroad at Billings. A rustic hotel has recently been completed, and many trails make the surrounding regions accessible.
